Project: CCGA Logo Design

Copyright Transfer Statement

This form details the Transfer of Copyright for the specified logo design. By signing this Copyright Transfer Agreement, the Designer will relinquish all personal and professional rights to the logo design created for the Client.

Restrictions and Caveats

The Designer reserves the right to showcase the finished logo and associated designs in his/her portfolio and in online galleries, portfolios, or showcases, as well as in printed literature, including books and magazines, now and in the future.

The Client will announce the Designer's name with the revelation of the winning logo, which will include information about the Designer's concept. CCGA will also display a permanent credit for the Designer on its web site along with a link to contact the Designer, if the Designer wishes so.

The Client will use the finished logo design for its intended purpose as a foundational component of the CCGA branding package. Possible usage will be, but is not limited to: stationery and marketing collateral, web site, social media, t-shirts, mugs, bags, and other member-based products. The CCGA will develop usage guidelines to ensure the integrity of the logo design to prevent its misuse.

Any form of legal Registration of Trademark of the logo remains the sole responsibility of the Client.
